

Science BEAT

Calling all curious minds!

September 16-19, 2026
Ljubljana

Celebrating knowledge and talent development

ScienceBEAT is an exceptional scientific and professional multi-day event, aimed at outstanding students of natural science and business from Slovenia and abroad. It enables young talents to enter a global network of professional excellence in science, engineering and entrepreneurship. Selected participants will receive employment offer immediately after the event, while others will have the opportunity to engage in future collaboration.

ScienceBEAT is the perfect gateway for outstanding young professionals and those starting their careers

Experience the action from the inside

Participants will gain unique insight into the trends and challenges of modern pharmaceutical industry.

Access to cutting-edge technologies

They will be introduced to trends and technologies ranging from artificial intelligence and data science to automation and robotics.

Hands-on experience

Participants will gain practical experience with group work on a pharmaceutical-technical-business challenge and opportunity to demonstrate knowledge and skills in practice.

A holistic experience

In addition to professional content, participants will enjoy sessions focused on well-being, mindfulness, and personal growth.

Learning from the best

They will have an exceptional opportunity to network and gain invaluable knowledge and professional insight from world-renowned scientists and entrepreneurs, innovators.

Networking and connection-building

The event will provide opportunities to connect with people who can inspire, guide, or support their future career paths.

A step closer to a career

The event opens doors to a global network of professionals and career opportunities in an inspiring and inclusive work environment.

► More information